DAVIS WHITEHALL SERIES

Artist Profile: Terry School

When asked to select an urn for a family member who served in Desert Storm, Terry discovered there were no urns available that memorialized her in the right way. He decided to create a custom designed urn with handcrafted detailing that met his desire to properly pay tribute to a unique life. Along the way, he captured the hearts of all who saw it.

By focusing on exceptional quality, hand-made craftsmanship, and the flexibility to quickly design images to meet the needs of individual families, Terry School and the Davis Whitehall team preserve special memories in a manner not previously available for cremation. Davis Whitehall views urn personalization as a ministry, providing families a sense of healing through the creation of breathtakingly unique memorial urns.
